Summary: A short poem type thing that I wrote during math class.

Chariot of Fire

Chariot of Fire

Twisting, turning, roving across the land,
>Three alert marines, two are old hands.
Young Jones the newest of the three,
>Sitting in the side seat, grinning with glee.

Kensington is behind the wheel,
>With a faux fur seat, he likes the feel.
Swenlin, The most experienced with the gun,
>was in the back, hoping for some fun.

As the drove along, through the rough, harsh land,
>They see a long thin purple band.
'Covenant raiding party'
Swenlin whispered with awe,
>Jones looked exited, and pulled his gun from the floor.

End
file.
